(Latin American Conservation Programs in Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico and Peru) NCI conserves lands and ecosystems in Latin America through the creation of natural reserves and programs to conserve rainforests and other threatened ecosystems. We do this in a bottoms-up fashion by hiring local staff to work in the states and provinces of the region, who work with government and communities to create conservation programs and new protected areas, and building the local capacity to manage and sustain them. While emphasizing the conservation of forests and ecosystems, NCI's programs also promote community sustainable development.

(Science) NCI carries out scientific research that support our mission to conserve lands and ecosystem in concert with local peoples. We also operate the San Francisco Scientific Field Station in Ecuador, that serves international and Ecuadorian universities that conduct over basic and applied science research projects in tropical mountain ecology.

4c (Code: ) (Expenses $ 72,328. including grants of $ 20,000.) (Revenue $ 73,446.)

(Environmental Policy, Education and Community Development) NCI develops and implements environmental policies that support land and resource conservation in a sustainable fashion. These programs address policy issues and economic incentives and disincentives, and work to implement ecosystem service payment programs. Examples include our work to create sustainable resource use, local green products, and the creation of water funds that create ecosystem service payments systems and challenge them to effective watershed conservation programs. NCI also provides environmental education programs and works to develop the communities in Ecuador, Mexico, and Peru, including classroom materials, nature festivals, programs, and teacher workshops.

The Organization recognizes and measures its uncertain tax positions in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 740, Income Taxes. This addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under FASB ASC 740, the Organization may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by the taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position should be measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement.

FASB ASC 740, also provides guidance on the de-recognition, classification, interest and penalties on income taxes, accounting in interim periods and requires increased disclosures. As of December 31, 2019, the Organization does not have a liability for unrecognized tax uncertainties. The Organization's policy is to record interest and penalties on uncertain tax positions as income tax expense. As of December 31, 2019, the Organization has no accrued interest or penalties related to uncertain tax positions. The Organization is subject to routine audits by taxing jurisdictions. However, currently no audits for any tax periods are in progress. Management believes that the Organization is no longer subject to income examination for years prior to December 31, 2016.
